The German HIGH COMMAND Answers the Question WHO WON THE WAR?

How the Prussian military leaders compare the bravery of the Yankee fighters with members of other allied armies

Ludendorff, von Einem, von Gallwitz and the former Crown Prince, chiefs of the Kaiser's armies, write for the first time their estimate of the physical strength, endurance, valor, morale, and effectiveness of the American army settling forever the discussion of who were the most dangerous fighters opposed to the Teuton allies in the World War.

No discussion bearing upon the great war so challenges the attention of the entire civilized world as this series of articles written by the military leaders who directed the Teuton armies. Their statements were made in answer to a questionnaire prepared by high military authorities and war correspondents. Their frank statements also divulge important opinions held by the German Military Leaders of the strategy and leadership of the American army. They declare unequivocally that the partici-

Admirers to Visit Home of Ex-President Wilson

[By Associated Press.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Plans for a visit to the home of former President Wilson Saturday by a delegation of "admirers and well-wishers" were announced tonight by Mrs. Kate Trenholm Abrans, who also headed the group of citizens who called on Mr. Wilson last Armistice Day.

Henry Morgenthau, of New York, former ambassador to Turkey, has accepted an invitation from Mrs. Abrains' committee, it was stated, to address Mr. Wilson.

It is expected the former Prest dent will receive his callers, the announcement added, although no word of the committee's plans has been sent to him.
